FUCHS unites STRUB and LUBCON in Switzerland: Uniform presence under FUCHS SWISS LUBRICANTS AG strengthens market position

Mannheim/Germany, June 30, 2025 – The FUCHS Group, which operates globally in the lubricants industry, is expanding its market position in Switzerland. The new subsidiary FUCHS SWISS LUBRICANTS AG now combines the activities of the Swiss subsidiary of the LUBCON Group, which was acquired in 2024, and the lubricant specialist STRUB & Co. AG, based in Reiden, which was also acquired in 2024.

With these two acquisitions, FUCHS has gained direct access to the Swiss market. The headquarters of FUCHS SWISS LUBRICANTS will be in Reiden. This location also serves as a development and production site. By bundling all local activities under one roof, FUCHS is strengthening its uniform market presence and can now offer its customers and partners a comprehensive portfolio of products and services for a wide range of industries from a single source.

“Switzerland is a country with great innovative strength and promising market segments, such as medical technology, the semiconductor and pharmaceutical industries, but also the traditional metalworking industry, which continues to be the heart of Swiss small and medium-sized enterprises,” says Dr. Mario Gehrlein, Managing Director of FUCHS SWISS LUBRICANTS AG. “We see great potential and want to expand our business in the coming years.”
